

Compare Amira with other schools: Introduction

If you wish to compare Amira's fees for French Groups in Brussels with fees at other schools, you need to consider the various times, prices, group sizes and course lengths in hours.

Key point: When you learn in a group, the fewer the students, the faster your progress for each hour of the course. In many cases, it is directly proportional.

You can find in Brussels that you have the choice of much the same price for an intensive group of maximum 8 students at Amira or for a group of 15 students elsewhere (for example at 'Alliance Française').

The figures in the comparison tables for each group format show that Amira's smaller groups and lower fees will end up costing you half the Euros for the same educational progress – and, of course, less than half your own time!

Efficiency? Amira covers the European levels A1, A2 and B1 by 6 courses of 40 hours in groups of max. 8 students.

The cost to cover these 3 European levels at Amira is 1520 € to 1650 € (550 € x 3) over 12 weeks.

To cover the same levels, the Alliance Française proposes 8 courses of 60 hours, in groups of max.15 students for a cost of 3289 € to 3646 € (8 x 446 € +78 €) over 32 weeks.

Similarly for 3 European levels, CLL Woluwe proposes 10 courses of 30 hours, 20 weeks, in groups of max.10 students for 2400 € to 2640 €

Conclusion: At Amira, adult students with a good general education can make rapid progress at a constrained cost.
